Sports Muddle Again Before Executive Council

Minor sports muddle was once more brought into the open at the regular meeting of the Executive Council when Dan O'Neill, soph, stated that at present there was little co-operation from any department relative to forming a swimming team.

Bill Bettencourt, junior representative, proposed a measure to place one person at the head of each of the minor sports; golf, tennis, and swimming. The measure carried unanimously. Under this new measure, the post of temporary minor sports manager was abolished, which had been held by senior Edward Tracy.

A committee composed of Bettencourt, Feeney, and Ken Coveney was appointed to investigate possibilities of a raffle to erase the debt incurred by the former management of the Brick Pile, student publication.

Discussion was introduced by Coveney regarding the moving up of the Saint Patrick's Day holiday to the following day, Friday in order to make a three-day holiday possible. Coveney was appointed to see Brother Albert relative to making the change.

An invitation by Dominican College to Saint Mary's students to attend philosophical symposium at San Rafael, Monday, March 7, was read by John Reilley.

Civic Jubilee Day In San Francisco Changed to April 19

With the date changed from April 20 to 19, plans are now being formulated for the civic jubilee celebration in San Francisco, according to C. Wesley Davis, campus law professor, who is in charge of the affair.

Reason for the advancement in date was to avoid conflict with other major events in San Francisco, Davis explained.

At the last monthly meeting of the Jubilee committee, a financial report was given by the financial committee regarding the expense of the civic day.

Next meeting of the Jubilee committee will be held on March 10, when reports will be given by the chairmen of various committees.

Robert McAndrews To Speak Homecoming Day

Mass at 9:15 with a sermon to be delivered by Father Manning will open Homecoming Day celebrations March 20, it was revealed by C. Wesley Davis, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

Representing the younger alumni, Robert McAndrews will speak as one feature of the celebration.

A meeting of the Homecoming Day committee was held during the week at the Leamington Hotel, Oakland, setting all final details. Scheduled for the day are several athletic events, including the annual punting and passing contest, a softball game, and two baseball games.

The alumni will hold their annual meeting in the afternoon at 5 o'clock, with Benediction at 6, closing the day's celebration.

Founder of College To Be Honored By Requiem Mass

A private Mass of Requiem, Missi Santata, will be celebrated in the students' chapel on April 7 at 9:15 a.m., in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the death of the Most Rev. Joseph Sadoc Alemany, O.P., first Archbishop of San Francisco and founder of Saint Mary's College.

Since April 14, the date of the Most Reverend Archbishop's death, falls during Holy Week, and since Easter recess will already have begun, it was deemed advisable to anticipate the anniversary.

Archbishop Alemany being the founder of Saint Mary's College, now in its Diamond Jubilee year, the Mass said for the happy repose of his soul will be offered in a spirit of thanksgiving and gratitude.

Archbishop Alemany's tireless efforts on behalf of the College were mainly responsible for the founding and growth of the institution. It was the Most Reverend Archbishop who first brought the Christian Brothers to San Francisco to take charge of his college.

Educator Decries Necessity of Giving English 'A' Courses

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA, March 3. —"Too large a percentage of those accepted for college studies today are not not able to pass the equivalent of a traditional sixth grade examination in grammar, spelling and punctuation; that examination, namely, which according to the law of California, an alien must pass before he be permitted to enjoy the rights and undertake the duties of a citizen of the United States." Such is the statement of Rev. Edward Shipsey, S. J., head of the English department, in the featured article in the March issue of The Owl, campus literary magazine, appearing on the campus this week.

Compulsory "English A" courses are a means of supplying the deficiency which the universities are "blandly asked to fill," Father Shipsey stresses in showing the lack of grammar taught in elementary and high scholos.

Gael Gossip

by BILL BETTENCOURT, Collegian Sports Editor

CLINT EVANS, the Grand Old Moaner of California baseball, is a show in himself—and he probably knows it!

Have you ever noticed that—

If Clint's Bears are leading, the Grand Old Moaner issues not a sound from the California dugout? . . .

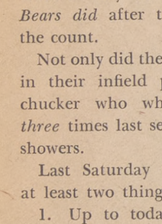
If a decision is made against "my boys," the Grand Old Moaner holds a special consultation with the offensive official? . . .

If the Bears get behind on the score board, the Grand Olld Moaner sits on a chair outside the dugout, crosses his left leg over his right, and sulks? . . .

6 Points . . . One Run

Do you realize that the Phoenix beat the Bears, defending champions, by a 7-to-1 score, tallying one run for every touchdown the Bears scored against the Gaels last fall when the Bears won, 30-to-7 . . .

Oh yes, the seventh run was scored for the cage defeat at Berkeley recently!



Clint Evans

Those six "Bells of Saint Mary's" at the end of the Phoenix slaughter of the Bears in the ninth certainly sounded like Major Bowes giving the Grand Old Moaner the gong!

To the hundreds of Saint Mary's fans present, those bells had rhythym.

Swing it, Mr. Evans!

'Twas Good Medicine!

Given some of their own medicine were the Bears last week.

Last year a good Saint Mary's nine went to pieces because of ballyhoo. But even great teams come through in the face of obstacles—even ballyhoo. The Golden Bear eleven did it! And the Phoenix are doing it this year!

Once again this season the Phoenix were tabbed in pre-season dope as "the team to beat." They went to Berkeley Saturday, knowing they were on the proverbial "spot."

Nervous, playing before a hostile crowd, the Phoenix battled the Bears on even grounds for three innings. Then the Bears took a 1-to-0 lead in the fourth.

And here's where the Phoenix showed they had the stuff—the stuff which would have given them the title last season if they had shown it.

Instead of cracking or tightening under the 1-to-0 handicap, a handicap which seemed to become bigger and bigger as each inning breezed by, the Phoenix thrilled and gladdened the hearts of every young and old Saint Mary's fan in the Berkeley stands—which, by the way, were jammed.

Behind 1-to-0, Saint Mary's didn't crack as they did last year and as the Bears did after the Phoenix knotted the count.

Not only did the Bears become sloppy in their infield play, but their star chucker who whipped the Phoenix three times last season was sent to the showers.

Last Saturday the Phoenix proved at least two things:

1. Up to today Saint Mary's is a better club than California—and we think the 1938 Bear nine is much better than the 1937 Berkeley team.

2. Cy Greenlaw, who also knows how to use the stick at the plate, up to the present time is the best twirler in the conference.

Hit Hard, Often Boys!

To win tomorrow, the Phoenix must be in top shape and hit the ball harder and more often. Saint Mary's and California have the two best outfield units in the league. It's hard to choose between the two.

Long flies to the outer gardens are cinch outs. "Texas leaguers," terrific wallops to the outfield walls, or hard line smashes will win for either team tomorrow.

The game's a tossup—but we like Saint Mary's to win IF—

1. Greenlaw pitches the great ball he did against UCLA in Los Angeles last year . . .

2. The Phoenix infielders give Greenlaw their support when it is most needed . . .

3. The Phoenix batsmen start hitting that ball the way they must if they want that conference pennant to be raised on our flag pole next year.

(The Gossiper doesn't want much!)

Nothing's Wrong

Every year at this time the pro scribes start asking: "What's the matter with college baseball?"

To which is replied, "nothing."

What's the matter with the pro writers?

Games last weekend were given the right "play" in the Sunday papers. And that's all the game needs.

Collegiate baseball is just about tops. There's plenty of fight, plenty of spirit, and plenty of color at the rah-rah games—which is more than can be said for the cut-and-dry games staged in the bay area most of the time by the Pacific Coast League teams.

During the recent basketball season, the pro scriveners complained they were over-writing college basketball.

"Why write-up the Pacific Coast Conference?" they asked. "Only the students see the games."

Which is logic!

Now we have college baseball, a game which can be enjoyed by every one. Why not give the sport a "break"? Give it a trial! This, too, is logic!

It is predicted that if the sport is put on the "spot" by the papers, the results will be most amazing.

For example, take that crowd of nearly 5000 fans at Berkeley last Saturday. They came there not because of advance ballyhoo, but because of the rivalry between Saint Mary's and California, between the Phoenix and the Bears, and between Evans (bless his little heart) and Earl Sheely.

Strader to UCLA

UCLA, so it is circulated, is in the market for a new football coach. The Bruins, if they are wise, need look no further north than Moraga.

Norman (Red) Strader, assistant to Slip Madigan, should do very well in Bill Spaulding's present post. Educated in the Madigan school of football, Strader today is recognized as one of the game's outstanding students.

Although the Gaels dislike to entertain any thoughts of Strader ever leaving Saint Mary's, the Gallopers would be the first to congratulate the genial redhead if he were given the UCLA berth.

A better choice could not be made by the southern university.

J. C. Whips Cagers

Saint Mary's didn't have a basketball team this year. It must have been another quintet which played under the name Saint Mary's. Because the Saint Mary's teams we have known always knew what fight and spirit and loyalty to alma mater meant.

But you may be assured that the Harlan Dykes' quintet which lost to a couple of bum club teams, placed third in a bum league against bum competition, and failed to reach the semi-finals after being placed in the bum division of the PAA tourney, did not know what these things meant.

Although most of the players displayed an indifferent attitude a same certain few always showed the true, typical Gael spirit, never quitting. It's too bad that the rest of the team didn't take the hint.

Losing to a junior college quintet was the lowest stage Dykes' cagers could have fallen to. Jimmy Underhill's Gael freshmen last year whipped San Francisco JC—remember?

We hope the Moraga basketeers have learned that it takes more than new suits to win ball games. . . . and it takes more than fundamentals. If a player hasn't any fight or fire, he shouldn't be playing on the team.

Saint Mary's cagesters as a unit not once this season showed any fight. But probably they're not solely to blame.

Shooting B. B. Shots

Yes, it's true—we're running out of B. B. (Sports) Shots and other copy that has gone into the making of the Gael Gossip column the last two years . . . Next Friday our final Gael Gossip column will appear on this page . . . Believe us when we say we're going to miss not writing this column, not rewriting sports copy on Tuesday and Wednesday, not trying to present an attractive make-up on Friday, and not writing headlines like: "PHOENIX SEEK REVENGE AT CAL" or "PACIFIC GAME IDEAL FOR UPSET" . . . But, enough of this.

PHOENIX MEET CAL AGAIN

'Hooks' Is Safe at First -- Surprise!

As a result of one of the few muffs made by the Phoenix against the California Bears last Saturday, "Hooks" DeVaurs of the Bekeley nine is safe at first in this play when Cy Greenlaw's hurried throw to Jim Robertson goes wild. But the Phoenix trounced the Bears 7-to-1, and that's what counts.—Oakland Tribune Photo.

Netmen To Play SF State Team

Local Courts Scene Of Opening League Match Tomorrow

Local courts tomorrow will be the scene of the opening conference tennis match between San Francisco State and Saint Mary's.

Rain caused the postponement of the scheduled practice match between San Mateo J. C. and Saint Mary's, which was billed for Wednesday of this week. No definite date for the clash of the two racquet wielding teams has been set, according to Manager Harry Hooper.

The completion of the local tennis ladder was announced by Hooper, who captured the No. 1 post. Walt Webber took the No. 2 spot followed in order by Bill McPeake, Toko Taira, Bill Davie, Bud Nammany, Joe Consiglieri, Dave Vanni, Bob Fleitz, and Jim Moore.

Because of sickness, Webber may be unable to play tomorrow.

Any time during the season, players may issue challenges to advance on the local ladder, Hooper declared.

TOSSERS MEET MICKEY'S INN FOR LEAGUE TITLE

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the San Pablo ball park, the Phoenix will clash with Mickey's Inn for the championship of the Berkeley Winter League.

The local diamonders won the first half, while Mickey's were victorious in the second. The Phoenix during the season won 10 games and lost four, with three of these being forfeits. Mickey's Inn on the other hand were victors in eight games and lost six.

Emmett O'Neill or Bud Merrill will pitch this contest, with Tony Boehle or Al Lingua catching.

Saint Mary's will be favored to win this game, because of the two defeats which they have charged against Mickey's Inn record. During the league campaign, the Phoenix defeated them, 9 to 7 and 6 to 3.

Larry Webber is leading the league in hitting with an average of .420, Gene Sullivan is hitting .400, Marion Stolich is walloping the ball at .390, and Tony Boehle is hitting .370.

Last week, the Phoenix won a doubleheader, defeating the O. K. Batteries, 14 to 1, and Orinda Reds, 8 to 1.

Unbeaten Gaels Seek No. 2 Over Evans' Bears

Endeavoring to sew up the annual Phoenix-Bear diamond series will be Earl Sheely's charges tomorrow when they clash with Clint (I protest) Evans' California nine.

Cy Greenlaw it was in that first game, which ended the famine for a Gael victory over California, and Greenlaw it will be tomorrow in the follow-up affair.

The morrow's clash very accurately should display just how serious a pennant contender the Phoenix are this season. If they can beat the defending champs for a pair of setbacks in a pair of starts, they will be well under way.

Evenly Matched

Score of last week's tilt does not indicate the true relative status of the opponents. Throw out the ninth inning, and the ball game was played by a couple of evenly matched clubs.

Perhaps there was something in the pessimistic pleas of Evans these past few weeks. It may be that the inactivity of the Bears and the winter league seasoning of the Phoenix was the deciding factor in the win and loss of that first game. Perhaps by tomorrow, Pitcher Bill Priest of the Berkeleyans will be able to elongate his seven inning performance of last week into a nine inning one, thus shutting out the Phoenix.

One can see little possibilities of a change in Sheely's club, if victories continue to grace his team's attempts. That outfield looks set with Marion Stolich, Gene Sullivan, and Bill Murphy filling the outer gardens.

This trio as a unit is rivalled possibly by no other outfield group than that of California.

Winterbottom, De Vaurs, and Chapman are three of the heaviest stickers in the league and no less vital to the Bears as fly chasers.

These two outfield units are equalled by none in the league unless UCLA and USC surprise with personnels not unveiled last year during loop competition.

Lingua To Start

Possibly the only Gael change for Saturday, barring injuries, might be at the catcher's post, Al Lingua replacing Captain Tony Boehle.

But Greenlaw is more used to serving them up to Tony and in all probability the Phoenix will field a starting team the same as last week.

Cal's infield looks set with Perry, McNamara, Firpo, and McCaffery fielding the up-front posts.

Gael Basketeers Split 2 PAA Tourney Games

Gael cagers were upset by the San Francisco Junior College, 44 to 39, in the quarter-finals of the Pacific Amateur Association tournament last Tuesday.

The junior college quintet outfought and outspeeded the Gaels to gain a well-deserved victory. Bill Opalinski led the Rams with 21 points, while Ken Meitz was high for Saint Mary's with nine.

This defeat eliminated the Red and Blue basketeers from the tournament and completed their season.

Last Sunday the Gallopers defeated the Jewish Community Center, 36 to 27, to gain entry into the quarter-final round. "Swede" Anderson led the Gaels with nine points, while Liss topped the JCC with eight.

Frosh Baseballers Face Busy Week

Today at 3 o'clock on the Saint Mary's diamond, the Saint Mary's frosh baseball team will meet Balboa High School and tomorrow morning will play host to the Sacramento High School here, with the game starting at 10 o'clock.

Sunday here, the Gaelets will clash with the Santa Clara Colts in the first game of the series. Sheely will start Earl Johnson, southpaw from Seattle, on the mound, with Frank Budiselich on the receiving end.

March 8—Roosevelt High at SM.
March 9—George Washington at SM.
March 10—Oakland High at SM.

SWIMMERS TO GATHER TODAY IN ROOM D-114

At 12:20 today in room D-114 a meeting for prospective Saint Mary's swimmers will be held, it was announced yesterday by Dan O'Neill, newly appointed swimming manager.

All Gaels interested in organizing a varsity squad are asked to sign up at the meeting.

O'Neill next week will seek to schedule matches with Berkeley, Alameda, Richmond, and Hayward high schools; San Francisco State, Marin J. C., Athens Club, Lakeside Plunge, San Jose State, the University of San Francisco, and Santa Clara.

The Gaels probably will open up with a couple of 2-way meets with the four prep schools, O'Neill announced.

Whether or not a water polo team is formed depends upon the athletes themselves, according to O'Neill.

Because the Madigan Gym pool is suitable for regulation meets, the Gael swimmers will play hosts to several teams, thus saving traveling expenses.

Following are the probable events lined up for the local matches: 100-yard breast stroke, 50-yard breast stroke, 75-yard back stroke, 50-yard free-style, 100-yard free-style, 220-yard free-style, 75-yard medley (one man, breast, back, and free strokes), 75-yard medley (three men), six-man relay, and diving.

SHADOWING the GAELS

By Bud Brady - Ass't. Sports Ed.

GAELS broke off California's victories over Saint Mary's in athletic competition before the string became eight straight by beating the Clint Evans' "Proud Protestors" last Saturday.

Seven straight for the Gaels would salve somewhat those losses.

New Greensward

Evans will be losing his job at Cal for wearing out the infield grass. The Bear mentor likes to stalk the umpires, which he did the usual number of times last week, when a close one went the other way.

As We See 'Em

According to Evans, there's one way to call the close ones and that's for Cal. Umpires unappreciative of this fact have strangely been uninvited to umpire any games at Edwards' field.

Perhaps Mr. West, who called them behind the dish Saturday, had better be careful before he irritates the "boy soprano" to extremes.

It is doubted if anyone thought Tony Boehle's looping double down the left field line was a foul ball, except Evans who "discussed" the matter to some length.

Long Undies

What varsity basketball guard is hoping the Gaels lose in the PAA?

"Naw," that's not treason, it's too cold in Denver now," he explains.

Not Me

After that Phoenix-Bear game Clint, regarding a protest, said he had been misquoted . . . had said nothing about filing an objection to Cy Greenlaw . . . had no intention of ever winning a game by protest.

Missing M

Bob Morey, sophomore ball star on last year's Phoenix and one of the original San Francisco "M" boys—Miller, Murphy, Merrill, and Morey—quit school last semester.

Morey has cut the buck with the Oakland baseball club and is being sent out on option by that organization for further seasoning.

Prospects Already

Next year the Phoenix will be a little short on outfielders. Gene Sullivan and Marion Stolich go. Murphy will be moved to first to replace Jim Robertson, who leaves upon graduation.

Kenny Butler will be the only returning outfielder, and chances are he may be moved to the infield.

Feather The Nest

The Phoenix had better stock up on victories before they go south to play those last crucial games, if they expect to capture the pennant.

It's a little short on pitching they are, and they will play four games in five days with the possibility of a doubleheader or two thrown in, if games are rained out when the southern clubs come north.

Toldyaso

Mentioned last week a high school cager we believe the Gaels could use on their basket squad when this ace graduates next May.

Jimmy Logan, captain of Saint Mary's High of Berkeley, the prep star we had in mind, followed up the writeup with 18 points against our own frosh team, and was the outstanding player in his club's eight point defeat.

Handy Rule

Harlan Dykes still remembers the officiating in Los Angeles for the Loyola game.

On one occasion Saint Mary's scored a basket. Al Andrade, who was following the shot, tapped the ball gently and cleanly into the hands of a nearby official. If anything, the act would have served to speed up the game.

A whistle tooted and a technical foul was called for delaying the game.

Webber Leading Phoenix Stickmen

Following are the individual batting averages of the Phoenix in the Berkeley Winter League:

Six To Graduate From Ranks of Varsity Cagers

Frosh To Fill Vacancies Left By Senior Men

When Saint Mary's cagesters take the floor next year, there will be many familiar faces missing. Six basketeers are to don the cap and gown in May, and end their collegiate career.

Clarence "Swede" Andersen, three-year letterman from Oakland, who has played stellar basketball at both guard and center, will leave a gap hard to plug.

Another three-year letterman, Larry Minahen, lanky forward from Stockton, who has been high in scoring for the past three years, leaves a large vacancy which will be hard to fill.

Jenkins Leaves

Warren Jenkins, sharp-shooting forward from San Francisco, who has played only one season of varsity ball, departs from the hardwood court.

Another San Franciscan, Gene McSweeney, two-year letterman from Sacred Heart High, leaves the guard spot where he has starred for the past three years.

Julian Lyons, another Stockton lad, who has played on the varsity for three years, and has filled in as a substitute, alternating with McSweeney this year, also graduates.

Baysinger Goes

Lew Baysinger, substitute forward during the past season, his only year out for the team, also leaves.

With all these seniors leaving, how will the team look next year?

Back for another year are Al Andrade, sensational high-scoring guard; Kenny Meitz, two-letterman at forward; Gordon Laird, who won his letter last year at a forward spot; and Ernie Loustalot, transfer from San Francisco Junior College, who was injured during the earlier part of the season.

Sophomores Return

Returning sophomores will be: Tom Feeney, clever forward; Norm McPhail, speedy forward; Dan Spillane, rugged guard; Bill Spehar, tall center, and Don Fleckenstein, aggressive forward.

Up from the frosh will come Earl Johnson, center and leading scorer of the team; Hal Wood, forward, and the second highest scorer of the frosh; Carl Kaiser, Pete Spiely, and Jack Hattchett, hard-driving guards, will lessen the burden at the guard positions.

With all this wealth of material, the Gaels should put a hard-driving and speedy quintet on the hardwood court next year.

Gael Tossers Clash Tomorrow With UC Bears

Blue Devils Bow To Salesian Squad In Close Game

Football practice and basketball in one day proved to be too much for the Moraga Blue Devils as they lost their first basketball game of the season to the Salesian Boys' Club quintet, 33 to 30, in Madigan Gym last Thursday evening.

Taking full advantage of their height, the local cagers played a steady ball game, and it was only a last five-minute rally by the Salesians which spelled defeat for the Blue Devils.

Bresciani Stars

Two consecutive baskets by Walt Bresciani gave the visitors a four-point lead in the opening minutes of play. But the advantage was short-lived when the Blue Devils' forwards Jerry Dowd and Dante Magnani, commenced ringing the basket.

High scoring honors went to Willie Lucchessi, diminutive Salesian forward, with 14 digits. Besides carrying off high point laurels, Lucchessi was the mainstay in defensive work for the Salesians.

Playing stellar ball for the Blue Devils were Harry Aronson and George Cantwell. Guido Alasia and Bresciani played heads-up ball for the winners.

Selects SM Again

Once again the annual archdiocesan CYO summer camp will be held at Saint Mary's this summer, it was announced this week by Father Leo Powleson, San Francisco CYO director. The 1938 camp will be the third held at Saint Mary's in the history of the San Francisco CYO movement.

New "Luisetti" Found Here

Larry Ragno Scores 26 Points, But Frosh Lose, 34-30

Resemblance of Angelo "Hank" Lusetti was seen on the Madigan Gymnasium court last Tuesday afternoon, when Larry Ragno, frosh day student, copped high point honors in an intramural game by scoring 12 field goals and two free throws for a total of 26 points.

Still, his team lost to the Senior Day Dogs, 34 to 30, in the first game of the reorganized intramural basketball schedule.

Ragno scored all of the eight points made by the frosh in the first half and came back to score 18 more after the intermission.

Dave Vanni and Pat Horan each scored two points for the remainder of the Frosh total. Jim Murphy, lanky Frosh cager, starred for the losers on defense.

Alioto Gets Nine

An equally balanced scoring team played a major part in the senior victory. Joe Alioto with nine points led his team in scoring. Alioto was closely followed by Jim O'Connell, who garnered eight points, Jack Reilly who collected seven, and Clarence Garabotti who made six points.

The score at half time was 22-8, in favor of the Seniors.

An entirely different plan has been formed for the new intramural program, according to Taylor Bedillion, manager.

Two Divisions

There will be two separate divisions, residents and day students. The residents will play one another on Monday and Wednesday nights, while the day students will play one another on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

In both divisions there will be two halves, the first half ending for both residents and day dogs on March 22. The winners of the two divisions will meet for the title at the conclusion of the schedule.

Varsity Cagers Defeat Loyola in L. A., 43-39

In the Los Angeles Civic Auditorium last week, Saint Mary's cagers walloped Loyola University, 43-to-39. It was the second Gael win over the Lions, Saint Mary's beating Loyola, 34-to-31, earlier in the season in San Francisco.

The game was closely played, with Saint Mary's taking a small lead in the opening minutes. Warren Jenkins, Gael forward, bucketed 16 points for high scoring honors.

Henning's Not A Busy Secretary — Not Much!

By Tom Feeney

Secretary to Slip Madigan—an envious position!

"Right hand man to one of the busiest athletic individuals on the coast requires much effort, but it's a pleasure to work for him," explains Jack Henning, present secretary.

To look at a list of Henning's duties, one would swear he couldn't do it, but incredible as it sounds, he accomplishes them.

"The largest task is to read and answer all the correspondence. From Tamalpais to Timbuctoo, letters pour in. Some are from personal friends, others from acquaintances, but the majority is fan mail. The fan mail is the most difficult to handle, yet there is always something interesting or humorous in each envelope which spices the otherwise monotonous task.

Good Tickets Wanted

"Many belong to that ancient winter order 'Ye Olde 50-yard line tickets,' others ask or give advice, and still others want a photograph of Slip or any of the coaches or, more common yet, a picture of a player with his home address."

The majority of the mail comes from California, but the Midwest and East come in for a large share, according to Henning.

Jack arranges all interviews with Slip and must be careful not to cram too many at once. He can well remember the time he scheduled at the same time appointments for two newspapermen, a prominent alumnus, and a school official. The result was nearly chaotic!

No Guess Work

All messages via the phone are received by Jack and, should Slip be away, he handles any imperative business himself.

Guesswork doesn't count here, unless, of course, the guess happens to be the correct one.

Aside from the above, Jack has little to do, except: handle all equipment orders and make sure they arrive on time; receive personal requests to Slip, and take the minutes each athlete plays on the gridiron.

In addition, transportation must be provided for the athletes, complimentary tickets must be distributed, field passes handed out, and meals before and after the games must be set in advance and checked for certainty.

Call for Jack!

Who does all this?

Jack! Call for Jack! Where's Jack?

"I wouldn't trade the position for any other on the campus, and despite what might seem much work to you, it is alleviated by some assistance and a pleasing atmosphere in which to work," Henning says.

Off hand, Jack must have a yen to work, for besides these duties, he carries the regular 18-unit course and is secretary of the student body.

Should a cry reach your ears, "Where's Jack? Jack!"

It's only a call for a very busy man to resume his secretarial duties!

Washington Cager Leads Team To Win

Led by Earl Johnson, who scored 13 points, the Saint Mary's freshmen cagers defeated the Cunningham Sheet Metal Works five 53 to 18 at Madigan's gym Monday night.

Behind Johnson in the high scoring column was Art Anderson, who recorded 11 points. Shrieve and Smith divided the honors for the Cunningham team, each scoring five points.

Phoenix Score 7-1 Victory Over Cal Bears

Cy Greenlaw Wins Pitching Battle From Bill Priest

After trailing nearly the entire game, the Saint Mary's Phoenix pushed a run across the plate in the eighth inning, and followed with six runs in the ninth to triumph over the Cal Bears at Berkeley last Saturday, 7 to 1.

With Cy Greenlay and Bill Priest engaging in a pitching duel, the game looked to be a tossup until the fatal ninth. Up until the eighth the one run which the Beaers had scored in the fourth inning on Priest's triple, which brought in Tony Lombardi, who had walked, loomed as the deciding margin.

Phoenix Tie Score

But the Phoenix finally managed to tie it up, when Greenlaw singled in the eighth to bring Tony Boehle home. Everyone sat back to enjoy an extra-inning affair, but the Phoenix "slugger row" started to work in the ninth and, when the dust cleared, six runs had crossed the plate.

Boehle led the Phoenix stickers with three hits in five trips to the plate, while "Hook" DeVaurs, Bear outfielder, collected two bingles in four times up. Priest and Larry Webber connected for triples, while Glenn Sinnott and Sam Chapman, Cal All-American football halfback, pounded out doubles.

Hugh C. Donovan, S.J., chaplain.

"Because of the unusual co-operation the students have shown so far during the year 1937-38," Father Donovan said, "I am confident that the objective of 20,000 communions set at the beginning of the year will be reached without any difficulty by the end of May."

Debate Plans Are Announced For Spring Schedule

Interclass Debate To Be Staged Between Sophomores-Seniors

Debaters moved slowly out of their lethargic term opening, when plans for future debates were revealed this week.

Most proximate debate, Herschel Smyth, manager announced, is between local freshman team and Santa Rosa High School. The Saint Mary's team has not been announced. The topic is, "Resolved, that the Unicameral System of Legislature Should Be Adopted by the Several States." The scheduled encounter with University of San Francisco, here, was cancelled.

Interclass Debate

An interclass debate will be held in the near future, a sophomore team meeting a senior team, Smyth said. This contest will provide senior debators practice for their tour. Any one of the tour topics will be argued in this interclass meeet.

No confirmation of date has been received for the debate tour of the northwest. Finances remain the chief obstacle, it was announced. The squad, consisting of Lawrence Mana, William Bourne, Herschel Smyth, Edward LaBerge, and Wyman Riley, will argue on either side of any question offered by the opposition.

Three Meets Held

Three debates were held during the past week, two on the campus and one in San Francisco. A senior debate team of Lawrence Webber and Henry Neutzal met a team from the University of San Francisco, Tuesday, in that city. Juniors John Williams and John Sullivan met a San Francisco State College team in the lounge, Wednesday. Yesterday Stanford freshmen engaged Murray Brannen and Leo Haggerty, freshmen, in the lounge.

The Fourth Annual Speech Congress, held at the University of California, Friday and Saturday, was represented by John Sullivan, John Williams, Herschel Smyth of Saint Mary's. Eleven colleges were in attendance at the Congress, 100 in all persons participating.

Retreat Movement Committee Meets Here

Groups To Travel To El Retiro Each Week During Lent

Initial meeting of the newly formed Retreat Committee was held this week on the campus with Father Joseph I. Manning, student chaplain, presiding.

Ways and means of furthering the movement on the campus were discussed by the members of the committee, and it was decided to send a group to El Retiro, archdioscian retreat house in Los Altos, every week-end during this month and the first two week-ends of April.

The movement was started on the campus last year by the members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, headed by Grand Knight Victor Wilkiemeyer. However, this year many students, not members of the council, stated their intentions to make retreats, so the movement became an independent student activity and the committee was named by Father Manning to handle the details.

Any student that wishes to make one of the retreats during the remainder of the scholastic year should contact one of the members of the committee, give his name and date he wishes to attend a retreat.

Those students serving on the committee are: Vic Wilkiemeyer, Walt O'Connor, Robert Kelly, Pete Sedar, William Miller, Charles Nanfito, and Harry Hooper. Father Manning announced another meeting for Monday evening, March 7 in De La Salle Hall.

Irish Players To Appear In San Francisco

During their engagement at the Curran Theatre, the Abbey Theatre Players will be seen in plays which have been done in Dublin since the last visit of the company. For the first week, the repertoire will include for the first half of the week "The Far Off Hills," Lennox Robinson's comedy in three acts; for Thursday and Friday nights, "Juno and the Paycock," Sean O'Casey's famous three-act comedy-drama, and for Saturday matinee and night, "The Playboy of the Western World," satiric comedy by J. M. Synge.

The company now on tour includes F. J. McCormick, Eileen Crowe, P. J. Carolan, Maureen Delany, Arthur Shields, Aideen O'Connor, Michael J. Dolan, Frolie Mulhern, Denis O'Dea, May Craig, Austin Meldon, Ria Mooney and others.

Before Dr. Jones came to the class, one of the students wrote on the board, "Dr. Jones will not meet classes Wednesday." By the time he arrived, another student had applied the eraser, to leave, "Dr. Jones will not meet his lasses Wednesday." Not to be outdone, Dr. Jones erased one more letter.

Site of Foch Debate Is Changed to Native Sons' Hall

Locale of this year's Marshal Foch debate between Saint Mary's and Santa Clara has been changed to the French Library of Native Sons' Auditorium in San Francisco.

The debate topic, "Resolved that France has contributed more to world culture than has England," was proposed by the Saint Mary's debate department because it was felt to have more education al value than any political topic.

The debate is to be held on March 24. The order of speaking for the Saint Mary's debaters has been announced as, Wyman Riley, Lawrence Mana and William Bourne.

Superior General of Mary Knoll Foreign Missions Speaks Here

Taking as his subject, "The Idealism of Youth," Bishop James E. Walsh, Superior General of the Maryknoll foreign missions, addressed the student assembly in the chapel last Wednesday morning.

"Idealistic youth is a great part of the Church," Bishop Walsh said, "but pagans are also idealistic." He then cited examples of pagan Communist Chinese boys going to their death with a smile on their faces, not for Communism but for idealism.

The Bishop dwelt at length on the career of Joseph Lo Pa Hong, Chinese merchant recently assassinated, and characterized him as the world's greatest living Catholic. He mentioned the many charitable enterprises of Mr. Lo, head of Oriental utility companies.

Speaking of his eighteen years in missionary endeavour for the Maryknoll society, Bishop Walsh said, "The Orient is a land of opportunity because it is a land of change and development. China is a land which can be converted, as the parents of Lo Pa Hong were converted."

The Bishop urged all American youth to think about this great missionary field.

Bishop Walsh forecast: "No one can look forward with any degree of certainty to a life of peace in any country. Even now there is a battle going on between Christ and anti-Christ. No one is going to live a normal life during the next generation. Everyone is going to have to fight."

Knights To Enlarge Memorial Library

New Book Purchase Voted by Council

Purchase of books for the Brother Gregory Memorial Library was discussed by the members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus at their meeting this week.

Funds necessary for the purchase will be given to Brother Clement, college librarian, sometime next week. He will determine the books to be secured and will order them for the library.

A report was made by Harry Hooper, acting Grand Knight, on the sale of tickets for the benefit dance for Saint Joseph's School for the Deaf and Dumb in Oakland. The affair was given last Tuesday night in the Hotel Oakland under the auspices of the Oakland Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Social Meeting Planned

The council also made preliminary plans for a social meeting to be held sometime around Saint Patrick's Day. The exact date of the affair has not been determined as yet due to the fact that the Irish Society is planning a celebration for that holiday, and many of the Knights are members of that club. However, the program committee, headed by Joseph Donnelly was instructed by Hooper to plan a tentative program for the proposed evening. The same committee was also ordered to present at the next meeting its entertainment program for the remainder of the current semester.

A discussion of possible campus entainment features was held at the meeting, and several suggestions were offered to the program committee by the members of the council. Some of these will be incorporated into the final program for the rest of the year.

Senior Sketches

By Herschel Smyth

Blasted across page 1 of the COLLEGIAN seceral weeks ago was a story involving one of the best known campus sports enthusiasts, namely the intramural sports manager, Julian Lyons, who resigned his post in favor of his favorite sport of varsity basketball. Lyons is one of the more colorful of the basketmen, having held down guard position for two years. His appearance on the court always called for some comment on the part of the sports announcers, who last year termed him "litle Napoleon."

It is little enough to say that Julian is a basketball player; it is a matter of record that he is a good one. He began his career in sports in Stockton, his home town, by starring in prep school football and basketball. He won a trip to Chicago on the strength of his merit in the latter.

Matriculating to Saint Mary's, he found himself automatically one of the Barney Google Terriers, elite of the class of '38, and was chosen to record the activities of his class as class secretary. He played intramural baseball that year, and each succeeding year, aiding his class in the defeat of all other like campus groups for two championships.

Other Activities Listed

In earlier days Julie was a member of the new defunct Los Hidalgos Spanish Club, and of the Alpha Rho Omega. Appointment to preside over the local pool and billiards emporium left no further spare time for students welfare work, and Lyons resigned from the ARO. Lately, he has become a figure in the public eye by announcing that a colossal pool tournament will be held one of these balmy spring days. He is working hard designing the engraving plates for the gold trophies for those who get out from behind that eight ball.

For further information concerning our subject we turned to the files of the Irish society (Eire Oge), where we found that he is a member and therefore is predominantly Gaelic in composition. He will be received next semester by the University of California where he intends to study for a year preparatory to embarking on a career as a teacher, preferably of Economics, his major.

Next to pool and billiards, Julian is concerned with the golf and tennis outlook for the spring months, being a member of both teams.

Likes Swing

Long recognized as one of the leading campus socialites, he is also local authority on famous and infamous dance bands alike, and is often seen standing attentively before his radio, baton in hand lending his favorite maestros his undivided moral support. Yes, and he, with all his varied interests, yeet finds time to pursue his studies as evidenced by honor roll reports. As a means to an end, Julie informs us, he finds employment during the summer months with the Stockton fire department.

Note to faithful readers: The Sketcher next week will surprise and enthrall you with the most daring expose of his career. No holds are to be barred and the lurid truth concerning one of our most disreputable characters will be revealed—for the first time!

HIGHLIGHTS of SCIENCE

By Bill Glackin

Smokey Stover Speeaks!

Science is wonderful. Long ago we gave up being surprised at any new field it invaded, but this week's news is worth the lift of at least one eyebrow. For science is finally invading the domain of a great, and universally popular art—the funny paper. From now on, if Mr. G. H. Finch of New York gets a backer, we're going to be able to hear our Sunday comic strip as we read it! This, we think, is little short of revolutionary.

Mr. Finch's process (Pat. No. 2,106,245) is fairly simple. Sacrificing fidelity of recording for cheapness of processing, he proposes to turn out phonograph records of the comic strips on "mats"—records, in other words, made out of mat flong, a light, cardboard-like material now used for the printing of the ordinary newspaper picture. His records will be cut with a broad stylus instead of the ordinary fine cutting needle, so that a broad sound track will be produced, thus permitting the use of the mat flong.

Has Great Possibilities

The possibilities of this thing stagger us. Think of it! No more reading the funnies to Cousin Tommy, the little stinker. When he delivers his customary "Read me the funnies, willya, huh?" in his best nasal tones, all you'll have to do will be to slap the Dick Tracy record on the phonograph turntable, flick a switch, shove the correct comic strip in the kid's face, and go back to sleep. Marvelous, isn't it?

Hear Flash Gordon

At last we'll be able to hear Flash Gordon deliver those ringing speeches of his, to the "zapping" of rocket guns. After all these years we'll be able to find out whether little Northrup (of "Alway's Belittlin' "), the most terrifying youngster we ever saw, really sounds as sarcastic as he looks. Our ears will thrill to the consoling philosophy of Popeye's "I yam what I yam." And best of all, we'll be able to discover whether Smokey Stover sounds as silly as he acts, and whether or not that string around his nose intereferes with his enunciation.

On second thought, Smokey and his gang are mainly what we're waiting to hear. That silly collection of characters could be twice as funny with the right sound. The only thing that's bothering us right now is what they're going to do about the best part of the strip—the profound comments embodied in those little signs that artist Holman sticks all over his pictures. In our opinion, sound funnies without "foo," "goo," and "poo" will be a flop. We want the "foo," the whole foo, and nothing but the foo.

JOURNALISTIC SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED BY RECENTLY FORMED DEPARTMENT

Purpose of Awards Is To Induce Keener Competition At Annual Journalism Convention

With the attraction of two journalistic scholarships offered for the first time as an inducement for keen competition, date for the sixth annual Catholic High School press convention was announced yesterday by the newly formed department of journalism.

Saturday, April 23, has been selected as the date for the journalistic sessions on the campus by representatives of boys and girls high school newspapers.

Two two-year scholarships are to be made available for high schoolmen journalists. Method of awarding the scholarships will be made known later, the department announced but will be awarded only to men delegates participating in the press convention.

Coincident with announcement of the convention was revelation that for the first time every type of high school newspaper would be eligible for competition in divisions for awards of general excellence.

Thus competition will be thrown open to high schools publishing mimeograph newspapers.

Heretofore competition has been limited to printed publications of preparatory schools.

A number of new trophies will be set up by the College. Sponsorship of the press conference was placed in the hands of the journalism department by the administration this week. In the past the sessions were conducted by the defunct Saint Mary's Press Club and the combined efforts of the COLLEGIAN and Gael.

First place winners last year were Saint James High, San Francisco, among boys' schools, awarded permanent possession of the Flanagan trophy; Immaculate Conception, girls' schools, the Balfour cup.

Runnersup were Bellarmine High, San Jose, second place COLLEGIAN plaque in the boys' division and Academy of the Presentation, San Francisco-second place Gillick plaque in girls' division.

As an award for the most outstanding individual contribution in Catholic high school journalism, a perpetual cup has been established for this year's competition by Mr. Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder and former associate editor of the COLLEGIAN. The cup is named in memory of the donor's sister, Julia Twomey.

Under a new system of judging all editors of papers competing will be supplied with written criticism of their publications, it was announced by Brother Cyprian, press moderator.

All high schools competing are to send in their best issues of the year 1937-38 before a deadline of April 16. The written decisions of the judges will be presented to editors on the day of the convention.

Comment & Opinion

To the critics who labeled a recent editorial on a prominent picture magazine "not appropriate for collegiate reading,' may we refer them to over a dozen prominent Catholic college papers, representing practically every section of the country.

Few of them failed to comment upon the matter, condemning the actions of the magazine in no uncertain terms.

If it's not too early to teach Catholic principles, it's not too early to teach the application of those principles.

To be congratulated are those members of the faculty who take an active interest in student affairs. A particular example is that of the Brick Pile and the constructive criticism which is so necessary for its improvement.

A spirit of willingness to co-operate on the part of the faculty is necessary for success in any student activity.

SINCE scholarships are to be given journalists, why not give the same arrangement to debaters? Debating is an activity truly representative of a college, and of inestimable value to the student.

Far too many realize the advantages of forensics when it is too late. Others, with encouragement, would participate. The COLLEGIAN suggests a similar arrangement for debating as for journalists.

STUDENTS, instead of giving up something for Lent, a negative thing in itself, could do far more by something positive. While giving up candy, cigarettes, etc., is fine in its own way, going to Mass every morning is infinitely better.

With the convenience of location on the campus, students should strive towards something of this type rather than one of a negative nature.

"THE trouble with the Catholic Church in the past has been that we too often were allied with the wrong side.

"Selfish employers of labor have flattered the church by calling it the great conservative force and then called on it to act as a police force while they paid but a pittance of wages to those who worked for them.

"Of course, there is the danger of Communism in our midst. The Holy Father points that out to us.

"But don't let others use it as a cloak to cover corrupt practises when they cry against Communism and themselves practise social injustice when they fought against a minimum wage, and girls and women are trying to live on 10 or 15 cents an hour."—Cardinal Mundelein, Archbishop of Chicago.

By Way of Explanation

A veritable tempest in a teapot has arisen due to the carelessness and neglect of the editors of this news-organ. Appearing in last week's COLLEGIAN was a story concerning an "alleged attack" on Dick Hilken, local student. It named certain "alleged ruffians" and told of their participation in the "embroglio."

Not considering its public, the COLLEGIAN printed the story in a feeble attempt at humor, and as a build-up for the mock court, which, unlike the "affair," is an actuality.

Therefore, the COLLEGIAN owes an apology to all who read the article and were misled by wording of the story. There was no real fight, much as we hate to come crashing back to reality, neither was there any damage done. The thing was (forgive us) planned and rehearsed.

For deliberately causing our reading public to be misled, we apologize; for misrepresenting the students involved, who are not in the habit of brawling, we are comparable to the man who scattered the feathers from the house-top.

Hoaxed were readers, contrite is the COLLEGIAN.

Evidence of Progress

ONE of the greatest steps toward scholastic advancement on this campus was taken recently in formulating a school of journalism. The need for such a department has long been recognized. Attempts to edit various publications on the campus are proof enough.

With high standards set for these various publications, editors are only too conscious of the fact that an attempt to attain them without some faculty supervision or departmental aid is well nigh impossible. Further, students wishing to participate in such an activity have only the criticism of student editors to aid them in bettering their style and their ability.

With the new department, improvement should be immediate. Principles can be learned, not the hard way—practical experience—but through the aid of men who have had newspaper experience, or at least know the theory behind it.

With the fine record set by Saint Mary's graduates in newspaper and advertising fields, there has been demonstrated the practicality of such a school. Its work will be cut out—and the job will not be a small one.

Only one danger exists, as we see the situation: possible dictation of policy in such a publication as the COLLEGIAN. Technical advice is indispensable, but policy should be left to students. As long as the publication is an alleged student activity, it should be kept in that field. If it is not the "official publication of the Associated Students," then the student body should see that it is made so. Truth, sound reasoning, and good judgment are principles to be taught. Whether "journalistic ethics" such as this will be taught, we do not know.

The COLLEGIAN regards the new department as one of the most worthwhile additions to a splendid curriculum in recent years. Its need is great, its establishment welcome.

Moraga Musings

In keeping with a policy recently established the COLLEGIAN plans to print no more editorials with which any person may disagree. In the next two issues, the last to be printed under the supervision of the present staff, editorials will be on neutral topics. Crusaders must go!

Determined to get out from under the "big top," better known as De La Salle Hall, and into the side-shows, the Muser this week has inaugurated an expose of the various characters contained therein. Next week the sophomores will be guests of honor.

Outlooks and Insights

A FORM OF VICE violently detested by young people today is hypocrisy. Young men and young women whose habits are often deplorable, whose attitude toward religion is careless or indifferent or even antagonistic, young men and young women who are not in the least perturbed of you call them dishonest or ungrateful, indolent or indecent, promptly flare into righteous indignation if you suggest that they are hypocritical. They despise hypocrisy. They honor candor, sincerity and the open mind.

Be Sure You Know What It Is

Thus far they do well; but sometimes they are fanatical about it. Hence, they fall into the error of fanatics. Just as the man fanatical about truthfulness will see a lie in simple reticence, so the man who is fanatical about candor, the man who has a phobia on the subject of hypocrisy, will develop scruples that veritably must make the judicious grieve.

There is the young man who, having read a coulple of books which questioned the basis of the Catholic faith, was troubled with difficulties he could not solve. Right off he wrote in to ask, "Can anybody be a practical Catholic without being a hypocrite?" And yet again, there is that other young man, intellectually convinced of the truth of the Catholic Church and apparently favored with the grace of conversion, nonetheless holding back because, says he, "I know I can't live up to the standards of Catholic morality, and I don't want to be a hypocrite."

You are not a hypocrite when you fall short of your standards or fail to attain unto your ideals. You may be inconsistent but you are not a hypocrite even when you don't strive very hard to square with those standards or to reach those ideals. You are not a hypocrite when with Byron you praise the virtues which you do not claim. You are not a hypocrite when you hold beliefs which you do not fully understand. You are not a hypocrite when you change your mind—often a salutary practice—about some personage in history or some movement in civilization. You are not a hypocrite when, your youthful enthusiasms grown cold, you yet preserve a loyalty to those enthusiasms.

Hypocrisy, what Christ called "the leaven of the Pharisees," stems from insincerity, dissimulation and deceit. That is essential hypocrisy and nothing but that.

The Academic Way

WHERE would the university be without technical jargon? Your professor, whether of philosophy or of botany, of literature or of economics, feels that his work is lacking in basic scholarship unless it utilizes in prodigal profusion words fearfully and wonderfully made. His job seems to be to make easy things difficult.

Dr. Edward D. Churchill, professor of surgery in the Harvard Medical School, offers an illustration in his noble field of teaching: The patient who "turns pink, swells up all over the face and body like a balloon, and sometimes has the greatest difficulty in breathing." Now that description, from the viewpoint of ordinary intelligence, is admirable. But would a professor or a writer in a medical journal thus use understandable English? Not at all. The academic description would be something like this: The patient is characterized by "cutaneous hyperemia, generalized urticaria and dyspnea due to laryngeal edema."

We need technical language, I freely grant you, but a little of it goes a long way; and it becomes an obstacle to knowledge rather than an aid to understanding when it is used—as so often it is used—for its own not-so-sweet sake.

Men and brethren, Longfellow was right: "The supreme excellency is simplicity."

Psychology, This

ONE of the characters in Liam O'Flaherty's "Famine," a powerful novel of life in Ireland a century ago, is thus described: "He belonged to that large class of timid and mediocre people who lack the moral courage to obey by their own dynamic force the urge towards the idea. They feel that urge, owing to their sensitiveness and a suspicion that they are missing something in life. A consciousness of being frustrated by a mysterious force beyond their control drives them to sporadic extremes of conviction; at one moment to action, at the next to cynicism. They crave to belong to an army marching towards a distant goal. Alone, or against opposition, they are helpless and prone to despair."

It is indeed a large class. Men like that have great potentialities, often keen perceptions. Their sensitiveness is God's most precious gift. But they lack faith in themselves, the faith that flowers in constructive action. They are too much dominated by men less gifted; too much under the blight of public opinion and human respect. Their cynicism is a protective coloration to shield them from other people's pugnacity and their own sense of futility.

The Bystander

By Jack Reilley

"I"

Having apparently nothing better to do the telephone company of an eastern city recently conducted a survey in order to discover what one word was used most frequently in telephone conversations. The result was an overwhelming victory for the one letter word "I". Not even such surefire expressions as "Hy 'a Kid" or "Whatchadoin' tonight, Baby?" came close.

Underlying this there is some deep and sinister significance; some tremendous moral; at least that is what we have been told, however, we just can't put our finger on it at the moment. Surely it couldn't be that people think more of themselves than they do of other people because that is too revolutionary a thought. And anything smacking of the revolutionary is to be shunned. Especially in a college paper where readers are easily upset.

At any rate it seems to be pretty evident that the telephone company subjected itself to an awful lot of torture in order to come up with a result like this. No mention of the fact is made but it is safe to say that the tabulators must have heard a goodly number of "Listen Mame's," a plentitude of "So she says to me's," and a variety of fatuous conversation only rivaled by the "solution for recovery" offered at the recent Little Business Convention at Washington.

What the telephone company expects to do about this prolixity of "I's" has not been revealed. A possible solution, of course, would be to install a buzzer that would notify the speaker after its use for the fifth time. Such a course undoubtedly would be a restriction upon the independence and integrity of the American public. It would be a violation of the right of freedom of speech. And furthermore who would want to use the phone if he couldn't talk about himself.

It is true the editorial "we" could be used. But then, as everybody knows, who bothers to look at editorials there is nothing more silly than the "literary" gymnastics journalists go through in order to give the appearance of maintaining the impersonal outlook.

It is plain, therefore, that all true individualists should view with distrust efforts such as this one by the telephone company to cast the word "I" into disrepute. It is probably another attack on human personality, another move toward regimentation.
